

Welcome to our website!

ADAVAS the Association for Victims of Sexual Assault and Gender Violence is a non-governmental organization (NGO) which was founded in 1994. It is the Central Assistance Network for Abused Women in the region of Castile and Leon, and it is part of the Federation of Associations for Violated Women. On July 30, 1996 it was established for public use by a ministerial mandate.

OBJECTIVES

The principle objectives of ADAVAS are:

- Prevention of gender violence
- Specialized and comprehensive assistance for the victims

All of the services offered by the association are free

GOALS

1. To promote and carry out all kinds of activities designed to help victims of sexual abuse and/or minors who are victims of gender violence, with the goal of providing information, advice, help, and assistance in the most complete way possible.
2. To promote and carry out those activities which are necessary for promoting sexual abuse and gender violence sensitivity, conscientiousness, research, studies, and prevention. To announce and spread these objectives by way of informational activities and training the community through any means of public dissemination.
3. To equally promote and carry out those activities which are necessary to provide non-violence training, education, and coeducation, especially sexual non-violence and gender non-violence. To encourage the training of trainers and professionals in these areas and regarding topics of gender.
4. To encourage activities which are in favor of peace, equality solidarity, and cooperation between people, towns, and countries.
5. To promote and collaborate in actions of social well-being and public works of physical and psychological health in the population in general and especially in the communities most affected by sexual aggression and gender violence: women, young people, and minors.

6. To promote Cooperative Development, at a local, provincial, autonomous, national, and international level.
7. To incentivize social volunteering.
